

Early Surveys of {Provo River Valley Heber, Wasatch Co., Utah: James Chawner Snow -

July 1958 J. W. Snow headed a group
p. 5 H.B.U.M. who came to Provo River Valley. Mr Snow was then County Surveyor in Provo for Utah Co.

Mr Snow & party laid out a section of ground just north of present site of Heber City.

20-acre tracts were surveyed and each man of the group, selected his farm.

These men decided to settle in this valley (H.B.U.M. p 5)

June 1859 A tract of eight blocks south contd and 5½ blocks west of the initial point was laid off into blocks and lots forming a rectangle about  $\frac{3}{4}$ s of one mile long &  $\frac{1}{2}$  mile wide. This formed the west half of the townsite.

The east half was similarly laid off some months later which left Main street 7 rods wide

June 1859 Jesse Fuller, deputy county surveyor of Utah County, started a survey of the London Town Site.

The initial point was established at the north end of present Main Street in Heber. That original line ran along the west side of Main Street. The blocks were 24 rods square & the streets were surveyed to be 5 rods wide.
Each block was divided into 4 lots.
Each lot was 12 rods square.
